

Field Summary
private String	type Contains the type of notification that this object represents, such as an accept/reject notification for an employee request, or a general notification sent by the supervisor.
private boolean	viewed Shows whether or not the intended recipient of this notification has opened and viewed it.

Field Detail

message

private String message

Contains the message text of the notification.

recipientID

private int recipientID

The ID of the employee that the notification is being sent to.

senderID

private int senderID

The ID of the employee that sent the notification, or 0 if sent by the system.

sentTime

private Date sentTime

The time and day that the notificaiton was sent.

type

private String type

Contains the type of notification that this object represents, such as an accept/reject notification for an employee request, or a general notification sent by the supervisor.

viewed

private boolean viewed

Shows whether or not the intended recipient of this notification has opened and viewed it.

Class PermissionSet

package: Business

public class PermissionSet

All employees have a set of permission settings that determine what levels of access they have within the system.

Field Summary
private boolean	canAccessReports Sets whether or not the employee can access the reporting system, allowing them to both generate and distribute reports.
private boolean	canChangePermissions Sets whether or not the employee is able to change the permission settings of other employees that are below their permission level.
private boolean	canEditSched Sets whether or not the employee is able to edit schedules, either by creating new ones or by editing future schedules that have not yet come into effect.